part of classical teachers. The two papers will be published in full in later issues of The Classical Weekly.

The discussion of Professor Bennett's paper was cut short by the chairman on account of lack of time, and at the close of Mr. Scudder's paper a large proportion of the audience was compelled to withdraw on account of the lateness of the hour. This brought home to all there the evident lack of consideration that the general meeting of the Association of Colleges, etc., seems to show to the subordinate sections. The idea of setting an hour for a conference on one of the most important departments of secondary and college teaching for 5 o'clock in the afternoon is wholly preposterous, and entirely inexplicable. It certainly warrants the assumption that the general meeting would prefer not to be encumbered by meetings of subsidiary bodies.

The Publication Bureau of Teachers College, Columbia University, announces the publication of Professor Lodge's Vocabulary of High School Latin, "being the vocabulary of Caesar's Gallic War, books I-V; Cicero against Catiline, on Pompey's command, for the poet Archias; Vergil's Aeneid, books I-VI; arranged alphabetically and in the order of occurrence". The words occurring most often, about 2000 in number, are printed in larger type, and arranged in groups of 1000, 500, and 500, so that a certain definite number can be taught each year. Words occurring less than five times have all the references given. Pp. VII + 117. $1.50.

THE AMERICAN PHILOLOGICAL ASSOCIATION

The American Philological Association and the Archaeological Institute of America will meet at Chicago University on December 27, 28, 30 and 31, 1907. A large attendance is anticipated and reduced rates will be granted by the railroads.

Both joint and separate sessions of the two organizations will be held for the reading of papers, some of which will be illustrated. Among those who will have a place upon the programme are Professors Abbott, Tarbell, Shorey and Manly of Chicago University, Professors Bonner and Sanders of Michigan, Professors Bloomfield and Wilson of Johns Hopkins, Professor Elmer of Cornell, Professor George D. Lord of Dartmouth, Professors Lyon, G. F. Moore and Chase of Harvard, Dr. Alfred Emerson of the Chicago Art Institute and Professor Fairbanks of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts.

Mr. Edgar L. Hewitt, Director of American Archaeology for the Archaeological Institute, will report on the work of the year in this field; and there will be an address by Dr. D. C. Hogarth, formerly Director of the British School in Athens and now Director of the Cretan Exploration Fund.

Those who wish a copy of the full programme, which will give information concerning details of the meeting, fares, etc., should write to Professor F. G. Moore, Dartmouth College, Hanover, New Hampshire, Secretary of the American Philological Association.
